

Hargrave House

1971 – 1988

Details

Hargrave House was established at Bathurst by the Department of Youth and Community Services as a home for school aged girls, in 1971. It had capacity for up to 24 children. In 1974 it was a co-educational family group home. Children living at the home attended local schools. Hargrave House closed in 1988. The property was subsequently purchased by Charles Sturt University, and the buildings were demolished in 2018.
