

Department of Aboriginal Affairs, State Government of New South Wales

1997 –

Other Names:

- Aboriginal History Research Unit
- Family History Unit
- Family Records Unit

URL: <https://www.aboriginalaffairs.nsw.gov.au/healing-and-reparations/family-records-service/>

Details

The Department of Aboriginal Affairs in New South Wales is the custodian of the records of the Aborigines Welfare Board (formerly known as the Aborigines Protection Board) and the Chief Secretary. The Family Records Unit was established as a result of the New South Wales Government response to the Bringing Them Home Report to assist Aboriginal people in New South Wales to access government records of themselves and their families, particularly members of the Stolen Generation who lost connection with their families as a result of past government policies and practices.

Access Conditions

Records relating to Aboriginal people are held by State Records NSW. However, due to the personal and sensitive nature of the information in these records many are closed to public access.

All of these records have been digitised which enables the Unit to access them direct and provide copies free of charge to people who have completed a “Finding your Mob” Personal Family History application, available from the website or by telephoning the Unit.

More info

Related Entries

Related Events

- Stolen Generations Reparations Scheme, New South Wales government \(2017 - 2024\)

Related Organisations

- Aborigines Protection Board, State Government of New South Wales \(1883 - 1940\)
The Department of Aboriginal Affairs controls access to records of the Aborigines Protection Board.
- Aborigines Welfare Directorate \(1969 - 1975\)
The Department of Aboriginal Affairs is the custodian of records of the Aborigines Welfare Directorate
- Aborigines Welfare Board \(1940 - 1969\)
The Department of Aboriginal Affairs is the custodian of the records of the Aborigines Welfare Board

Resources

- Museums of History NSW, Aboriginal Resources: A Guide to NSW State archives, No date
-

You can view this page online by visiting <https://www.findandconnect.gov.au/entity/department-of-aboriginal-affairs/>