

Inspector General of Hospitals Office, State Government of South Australia

1914 – 1940

Details

The Inspector General of Hospitals Office was established in 1914, replacing the Colonial Surgeon's Office. The Inspector General conducted visits and inspections of the public hospitals, asylums, and mental hospitals, and the superintendents of these institutions reported to the Inspector. In 1940 the Inspector General of Hospitals Office was replaced by the Hospitals Department.
