Residential Care

1970s – 1970s

Details

Residential care (as distinct from home-based care, like foster care or kinship care) is a term used to describe the placement of children and young people in residential units. Residential care is provided by paid staff employed by a non-government agency. Residential care properties usually house three or four people at a time and these are generally, though not always, adolescents.

Click here to see the full Find & Connect glossary

More info

You can view this page online by visiting https://www.findandconnect.gov.au/entity/residential-care/